The Course

One lap of the course is 4.6 miles, with ~502 feet of elevation gain. The Liberty Bell course is relatively the same as last year. A majority of the course is singletrack with some passing options (A & B lines) including the optional drops added last season. Depending on the weather, this course is mostly dry and dusty. This is a quick flowy course, with the biggest climb happening towards the later half of the loop, climbing up to the water tower, and a quick decent back into the finish area.
